House Street Disposal Area Investigation Expanded

The House Street Disposal investigation area has been expanded. The Southeast Expansion Area will include another approximately 300 homes with residential wells in an approximate area bounded by Samrick Road to the west, Rogue River Road to the south, and the Rogue River to the east. The wells will be tested for Per- and Polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS), sometimes called PFCs. DEQ Geologist Mar Worrall, notes “The expansion of the investigation was a result of further study of the geological formation of the area, analysis of the results to date and further understanding of the behavior of the PFAS.” Wolverine World Wide will be contacting residents to gather necessary information to sample their residential water well, provide bottle water, and answer questions. Many of the residents of Belmont are already served by Plainfield Township municipal water which is regularly tested and monitored for PFAS, this includes many homes in the Southeast Expansion Area. Wolverine will only be sampling those residents who are served by private drinking water wells.
